

Hixter Bankside opens following premises licence obtained on their behalf by Suzanne Davies

In June 2014, on behalf of celebrated chef, restaurateur and food writer Mark Hix, Suzanne Davies successfully obtained a premises licence for his new restaurant Hixter Bankside that has just opened at 16 Great Guildford Street, London SE1 0HS. It is located in an old metal box factory just off Southwark Street, close to Tate Modern and Borough Market and other Bankside attractions.

Hixter has stunning design and specially commissioned art from leading British artists. It offers an enticing menu concept and a casual approach to dining with whole roast chicken and a selection of steaks to share. Children under 10 can eat free every day between 4pm and 6pm. Hixter also offers private dining rooms for between 8 and 50 guests

Mark's Bar is located in the basement, serving seasonal cocktails until 1.30am and championing British drinks producers. To find out more about Hixter Bankside, visit the Hix Restaurants website at <http://www.hixrestaurants.co.uk> or, better still, go and eat there. You can book by telephoning 020 7921 9508.

We are delighted to have assisted Mark and his business partner Ratnesh Bagdai with this exciting new venture and wish them continued success with this and their other very highly regarded restaurants in London (Hix Mayfair, Hix Soho, Hix Oyster & Chop House, Hix at Selfridges, Hixter City and Tramshed) and in Lyme Regis (Hix Oyster & Fish House).
